OPEN HOSTILITY IN RAIL STRIKE REPORTED TODAY

Workmen Attacked and US Marshals Kidnapped at Denison, Texas.

MOB RULES SITUATION

M. K. and T. To Request Governor for Help in Stopping Riots.

(By the Associated Press)
DENISON, July 12.—One man was shot and 47 alleged strike-breakers and four deputy United States marshals were attacked by a mob of several hundred men, believed to be strikers and sympathizers, while being marched from the union depot to the M. K. and T. shops here early this morning. Sixteen of the men were kidnapped, hustled into automobiles, taken to the Red River bottom and flogged. The others escaped. Four men, claiming to be victims of the mob, were found wandering along the railroad tracks at Colbert, Okla., this morning. Those who escaped the mob were shipped out of Denison.

The situation was quiet here at noon.

(By the Associated Press)
DENISON, Tex., July 12.—J. W. Pike, senior, said to be an employee of the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf railroad, was shot and seriously wounded and several others severely beaten here in a clash between alleged strikers or strike sympathizers and men believed to be strikebreakers here early today. Pike is in a hospital with a bullet wound in the stomach and arm. Other men were treated for lacerations and bruises. The clash occurred in an isolated section near the railroad yards and details are meager. The police blotter threw no light on the affair.

Foreman Assaulted.
FORT WORTH, Tex., July 12.—According to a report received here this morning and confirmed at the Santa Fe office at Cleburne, a general foreman employed in the shops in Cleburne was taken from his work last night by a crowd of men and assaulted. The foreman had remained in the shops when the shopmen struck recently and the attack is believed to have been made in connection with the strike.

Marshals Kidnapped.
DALLAS, July 12.—One man was seriously shot and a dozen others, some of them deputy United States marshals on guard at the M. K. & T. shops at Denison, were kidnapped, taken to the woods and beaten by a mob of 1000 men at Denison early today, according to a report to the M. K. & T. general office here. J. W. Pike was the man who was shot.

The report said the mob, composed of strikers and sympathizers, attacked the railway guards and employees in an isolated section near the Missouri, Oklahoma and Gulf railroad Denison shops.

"The railroad guards were kidnapped, whisked away in automobiles to the river bottoms where they were beaten," said H. E. McGee, general manager of the Katy here.

"We have been busy this morning searching for the men who were carried to the woods and assaulted," Mr. McGee said. "Unless there are troops in Denison before midnight there will be more bloodshed."

It was intimated here that the M. K. & T. road would follow the lead of the Texas and Pacific and ask Governor Pat M. Neff immediately for state troops.

Mr. McGee said that he could not give the details of the affair nor name of any of the men reported kidnapped.

"All I can say is that a mob of about 1000 wild men broke loose and attacked railway employees," he said.

Intimidation Forbidden.
HANNIBAL, Mo., July 12.—A temporary restraining order against the striking shopmen "doing injury or damage to the railroad company's property or violence to its employees, or intimidating wives and families of employees or picketing more than one at one point" became effective here this morning, following its issuance yesterday by Judge M. J. Wade at Des Moines, Iowa, on motion of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad.

Reign of Terror Caused by Armed Men Near Peoria

PEORIA, Ill., July 12.—Five automobile bandits, armed with automatic revolvers and sawed-off shotguns, terrorized motorists along the hard road between Peoria and Pekin last night, shooting through windshields of automobiles and holding up several parties. It was learned today. When one man and his wife sought to escape the robbers fired a volley of shot at the car, one of the shot penetrating the windshield. The money obtained during the raid amounted to less than $100, it was reported.

RUSSIAN PARLEY BREAKS DOWN AT HAGUE SUDDENLY

Hope of Further Meeting Abandoned in Light of Developments.

DEMAND RESTITUTION

Soviet Chiefs Reply Upon Demand For Return of Properties.

(By the Associated Press)
THE HAGUE, July 12.—The morning session of the conference on Russian affairs which was devoted to the consideration of the private property question broke up amid considerable confusion, many of the delegates declaring the Russian replies meant that the collapse of the Hague conference was inevitable. No decision as to that, however, had been taken up till 3 o'clock this afternoon.

THE HAGUE, July 12.—The conference with representatives of Soviet Russia broke down here at 3 o'clock this afternoon without apparent hope of further meeting. Maxim Litvinoff of the Russian delegation, said on leaving the conference chamber that a further meeting was unlikely as the other delegates insisted on their making promises with regard to confiscated property compensation and giving of guarantees which are impossible until the Russians knew what credits and loans will be granted.

Litvinoff added that the peace parley will be held one month after the last meeting.

In the conference session today President Patyn, after hearing the Russian explanation concerning restitution of foreign confiscated property, announced that no useful purpose could be served in continuing the discussion.

Sir Philip Lloyd-Grange of Great Britain said he would consult his colleagues as to whether any good could be served by further meetings of the said committee on properties.

Anthracite Owners Prepare Reply For Offer of President

(By the Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, July 12.—While no reply from the bituminous coal operators or mine union officials was looked for at the white house before the end of the week, the anthracite operators are understood to have prepared a response today to President Harding's proposals for arbitration. Previous proposals for arbitration by the anthracite employers offered the only indication of the probable nature of their reply.

Several inconclusive sessions of the bituminous operators resulted in an adjournment yesterday until Sunday after A. M. Ogle, chairman of the operators group and president of the national coal association, and a delegation composed of the operators had conferred with President Harding.

Two Dead in Car Crash.

CAPITAL CITY, Mo., July 12.—Two are dead and three others injured, one dangerously, as a result of a motor car crashing into a damaged bridge near White Church, Kansas, in the darkness early today.

Hooper Draws Up Program to End Nationwide Strike of Rail Men

CHICAGO, July 12.—A program for solution of the railroad shopmen's strike was drawn up today by Chairman Ben W. Hooper of the United States labor board after conferring with the leaders of the shopmen, and was submitted to representatives of the railway executives from four sections of the country at noon today.

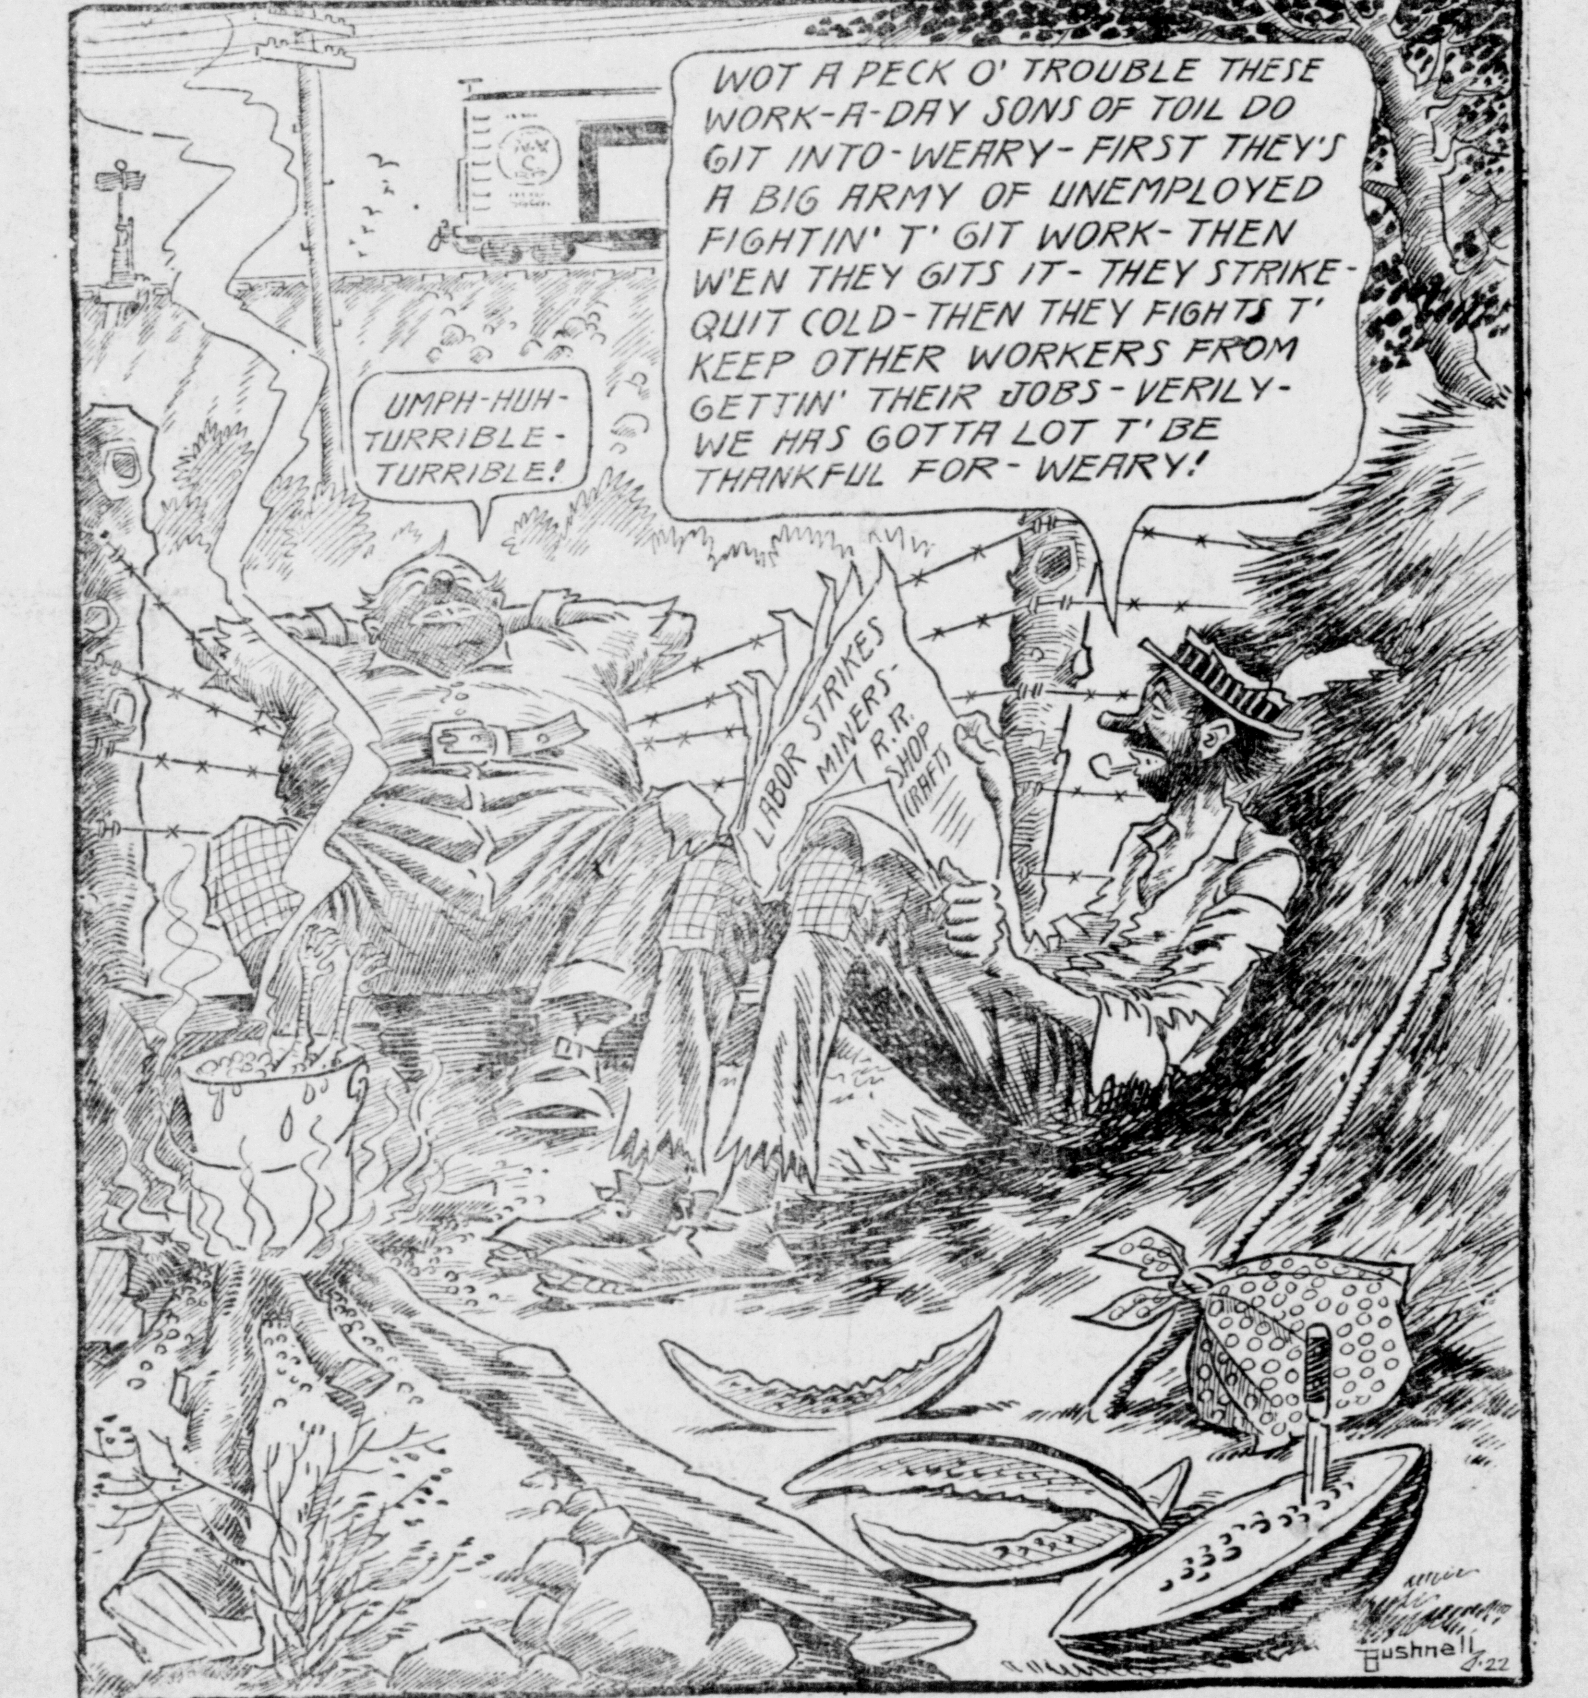

Chairman Hooper's program, which is said to represent the minimum acceptable to the striking shopmen, is to be carried again to the shopmen leaders later today with the comments and counter proposals of the executives.

When chairman Hooper left the labor board office for the meeting with the railroad executives he was confident some plan for settlement could be reached quickly. He said he expected to call President Harding on the telephone with a report of the success of his conference with the railroad presidents.

The conference of Chairman Hooper and the railway executives is said to be the direct result of a ten minute telephone conversation late last night between President Harding and W. L. McMenimen, labor member of the railroad labor board. The promise of the executives to receive the shopmen's proposals through Chairman Hooper is understood to have been communicated to Mr. McMenimen by the president.

COUNT DOLITTLE, DUKE OF DUSTY PIKE, REVIEWS LABOR SITUATION!

COUNTY HEALTH REPORTED GOOD BY ADA DOCTORS

Dr. Isham L. Cummings, county physician, reported today that the general health of the county was good, in fact, better than it has been for several months past.

Dr. Deen, city health officer for Ada, said the city was freer from disease this summer than it has been for several years. He also stated that good health extended throughout the county. Dr. Deen attributes the scarcity of typhoid in the city largely to the use of pure city water. He says there are no typhoid cases where city water is used exclusively during the summer. This does not include those who are out of town part of the time or those who use wells for part or all of their water, he added.

According to Dr. Deen, births in the county during the last months greatly exceeded deaths, although reports of these events have been incomplete. Deaths reported in May were 14 and in June 16 with possibly others taking place which were taken out of the county for interment. He states that there is one case of measles in town and one family reported smallpox last month. There is one case of chickenpox in the county and no scarlet fever or diphtheria reported.

The semi-annual meeting of the stockholders and directors of the News Publishing and Printing Co. will be held at the office of the company on North Broadway at 5 p. m., Tuesday, July 18, 1922.

MORATORIUM IS SOUGHT IN NOTE

Germany's Representatives Ask Delay in Payment For Rest of Year.

PARIS, July 12.—The German representatives today submitted to the reparations commission a formal note requesting a moratorium on reparations payments for the remainder of the present year.

The note stated that the thirty-two million gold marks due on Saturday were available, if the commission insisted on this payment, but recommended that it also be waived.

The German request did not sanction an extension of the moratorium throughout the next two years as had been forecast in some quarters but the commission is to consider Germany's condition and make a report as soon as it is possible for the commission to find a plan for her relief.

The commission will hold a special meeting, probably this afternoon to discuss the German note.

The commission has instructed the allied committee on guarantees to hasten its reply either from Berlin or to return to submit it here.

CLERK IS KILLED ANOTHER IS HURT AS FIRING OPENS

CREWE, Va., July 12.—Russell Wiggins, a Norfolk and Western clerk, was killed and an unidentified man wounded when shots were fired into picketing clerks at the station here last night. All the Norfolk and Western clerks have struck and men were picketing the local office when the shooting occurred.

While it was reported in some circles that the shooting was done by a Norfolk and Western detective guard, the report could not be confirmed today. The authorities made no arrest, nor announced what action will be taken in connection with the trouble. It is understood that there are between twenty-five and thirty detective guards on duty here. The situation is quiet today and the authorities expected no further trouble.

Tonight and Thursday unsettled; probably showers in east portion; warmer in northwest portion Thursday.

Gov. Neff Facing Serious Problems In Strike Issues

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 12.—Governor Neff, talking over a long distance from Stephenville this afternoon, said he was considering what to do in regard to the strike situation in Denison and elsewhere. He made the statement when Associated Press dispatches from St. Louis saying the M. K. and T. was appealing for troops were read to him by a local newspaper. He had previously declined to let reading of Associated Press dispatches regarding any rioting in Denison continue, but on second thought he declared he had already had several phone conversations and was now considering what to do.

CHANGE IN CITY TRAFFIC LAW IS SOUGHT BY CLUB

Motorists See Danger In Stopping Cars Near Railroad Tracks.

SUGGEST AMENDMENT

Boosters To Raise Funds For Building Complete Camp Ground Here.

Two committees, representing the Good Roads Motor Club, will canvass the city tomorrow collecting club dues which will be applied towards building a modern camp ground for the city. N. B. Stall, president of the club, announced this afternoon.

One group composed of Bart Smith, N. B. Stall and W. B. Moser will cover the east section of the city and another group composed of Gary Kitchens, D. C. Abney and Tom McCarty the west side.

"We have told the world that we have a good camp ground. Now we've got to get busy and prove that we're not liars," Stall declared in urging support for the movement. Ada has been listed on the Ozark Trails map as a city with free camp grounds, well equipped, he said.

A bid of $275 was the best received for erecting a concrete block house on the camp ground. Bids will now be received on a frame house.

Resolutions Adopted.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Motor club was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms last night. Following were resolutions adopted concerning new city traffic ordinances passed by city commissioners:

"Whereas, The board of directors of the Good Road Motor Club learn that officials of the city of Ada are about to enforce an ordinance which would compel all motor vehicles to stop before entering Main street from any avenue that may intersect and to stop vehicles at all railroad crossings on Main street and

"Whereas, The enforcement of such an ordinance, the Motor Club believes, would endanger lives more at railroad crossings than if the vehicles were permitted to keep moving at a slow speed. The club further believes that the stopping of vehicles in the business district before entering Main street would seriously congest traffic, therefore be it

"Resolved, That the Good Road Motor Club request the Honorable Board of Commissioners of the city of Ada to amend or modify the aforesaid ordinance in accordance with the following suggestions: That all motor driven vehicles slow to six miles an hour before crossing any railroad on Main street, or before entering Main street from any avenue situated in the business district of the city, and to come to absolute stop on all avenues entering Main street situated east of the M. K. and T. crossing.

"Be it further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent the Mayor of the City of Ada, to the Ada Evening News, and a copy spread upon our minutes

"Done by Board in executive session July 11, 1922.

K.K.K. TO APPEAR FRIDAY NIGHT IN SPOT NEAR CITY

Public Invited To Watch Naturalization Rites For Large Class.

250 YARD LIMIT SET

Spectators May See But Must Keep Distance, Notice Declares.

Ada members of the Ku Klux Klan will stage a public initiation ceremony near Ada Friday night, according to an announcement made public Wednesday morning.

Rumors were prevalent today that an immense class of candidates would be inducted into citizenship. It will be the first public appearance of the local Klan as a whole since a parade early last fall when scores of cars carried more than 200 robed men quietly through the streets.

Following is the brief announcement of the public initiation which appeared today on official Ku Klux Klan stationery in a communication to the News:

"Weather permitting, the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan will stage a public initiation ceremony near Ada, between 9 and 10 o'clock, on the evening of Friday, July 14. The place will be announced in Friday's issue of the paper. The public is invited to attend. The place will be in plain view and where all can see, but spectators are requested to remain at least 250 yards from the place where the ceremony will be carried on.

This announcement came upon the heels of a report that the Klan in Pontotoc county had discontinued activities. Since a detail of robed men appeared in a revival at the Christian church several months ago there has been no appearance in public of any of its members. Hundreds of klansmen, from every town in the county, are expected to make Ada their mecca for the occasion this week.

INITIATION FOR ADA BOY SCOUTS

But Their Parents Will Be Welcome To Watch Deep Mystery Thursday.

Boy Scouts of Ada will be shown a "new wrinkle" in scoutcraft Thursday night at 8 o'clock at the First Baptist church when an initiation into mysteries of the order will be conducted.

Arrangements for the initiation were announced this morning by Harry W. Miller, scout executive.

Parents of all scouts will be welcomed and scoutmasters and other grown-ups interested in boys' work are invited.

"Every Skinny Scout will see something that will open his eyes," Mr. Miller announced. "He will see several boys initiated into the ways of scoutcraft. Troop 9 of Washington school will spring a stunt that every boy will crane his neck to see. Stewart Linscheid, Wayne Wadlington, Jr., of Troop 5, Henry Greer of Troop 9, Turner Garwood of Troop 4 and Gladen Bailey of Troop 10 will be candidates for initiation."

Only registered scouts who are in good standing can attend. As a "finishing touch" to the celebration, ice cream will be served to all scouts present. Prizes to scout baseball teams winning in the recent inter-troop series will be awarded.

Wolf Cubs of the city were to revel this afternoon in athletic contests and swimming races at Glenwood park, beginning at 3 o'clock.

Irish Republic Proclaimed.

(By the Associated Press)
LONDON, July 12.—A rumor that an Irish republic has been proclaimed at Cork is printed by several of today's newspapers under Belfast reports. It is not confirmed from any other source. The isolation of southwestern Ireland is practically complete.

BIBLE THOUGHT OF TODAY

DELIVERANCE AMID TRIALS: When thou passeth through the waters, I will be with thee; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow thee; when thou walkest through the fire thou shalt not be burned; neither shall the flame kindle upon thee.—Isaiah 43:2.

GERMANY, HOWLING AGAIN

Once more the voice of Germany is raised to high heaven protesting her inability to meet the terms of the reparations payments and telling the allies that the whole political and financial edifice will topple like a house of cards should the allies insist on her meeting her obligations. Of course no one wants Germany to collapse for the effects of this would be felt everywhere, and then indeed would payments stop. However, the allies are determined to find out the real facts in the case before going very far in the way of granting terms to Germany. The Germans have acquired an unenviable reputation for duplicity and deception. This causes skepticism among neighbors when she throws up her hands and declares she is all in. The allies have a right to exact the last mark the Germans can pay, for certainly Germany showed no mercy to any who fell under her power during the war, and now all her payments are merely to partly restore some of the damage so wantonly inflicted. The question before the allies is just how much plucking the goose can stand without actually killing the goose.

BETTER PROSPECTS AHEAD

From all parts of the county come reports that the farmers are using the log drag and frequent cultivation methods of combating the boll weevil. Reports also indicate that the farmers are meeting with a fair degree of success in stopping this pest in the early stages. With good weather, it is believed that this county will make a fair cotton crop.

As we see it, the most important thing before the citizens of the county at this time is to help save the cotton. If a person living in town can do anything, he would be willing to do it. In fact, several have rendered valuable assistance. However, this is a matter which the farmers themselves know more about than others, and with the assistance of County Agent J. B. Hill and Hardy Dial, we believe they will conquer this pest.

Another rain will mean a bumper corn crop. Other crops are reported to be doing better than usual.

For many years treasure seekers have dug holes all over Custer county seeking for the grave of an Indian chief who took to the grave with him a large sum of money captured from a government official in a raid. Nothing tangible has been found but now comes a Custer county citizen who has a contract to furnish gravel from his land to the railroad which will net him $70,000 per year. That is real buried treasure. Here in Pontotoc county we can duplicate that and then some, but so far as buried hoards of the old time robber gangs go everybody is too busy to hunt for them. Digging potatoes is far more profitable and when it comes to mineral products, such as shale, glass sand, asphalt and limestone the Count of Monte Christo was not in it at all in the matter of wealth.

It is reported that the inheritance tax on the late William Rockefeller's estate of $200,000,000 or more will be $60,000,000. This will be a very nice little sum for the government. Rockefeller had the protection of the government all his life as he made this colossal fortune and what his heirs get will come to them without any effort on their part. This form of taxation is as just as any on the statute books. No man needs such a vast accumulation of wealth and if he persists in rolling up million after million it is right for the government to come in for a share of it. This is one way of redistributing a part of the wealth that has been amassed beyond any possible need of the possessor.

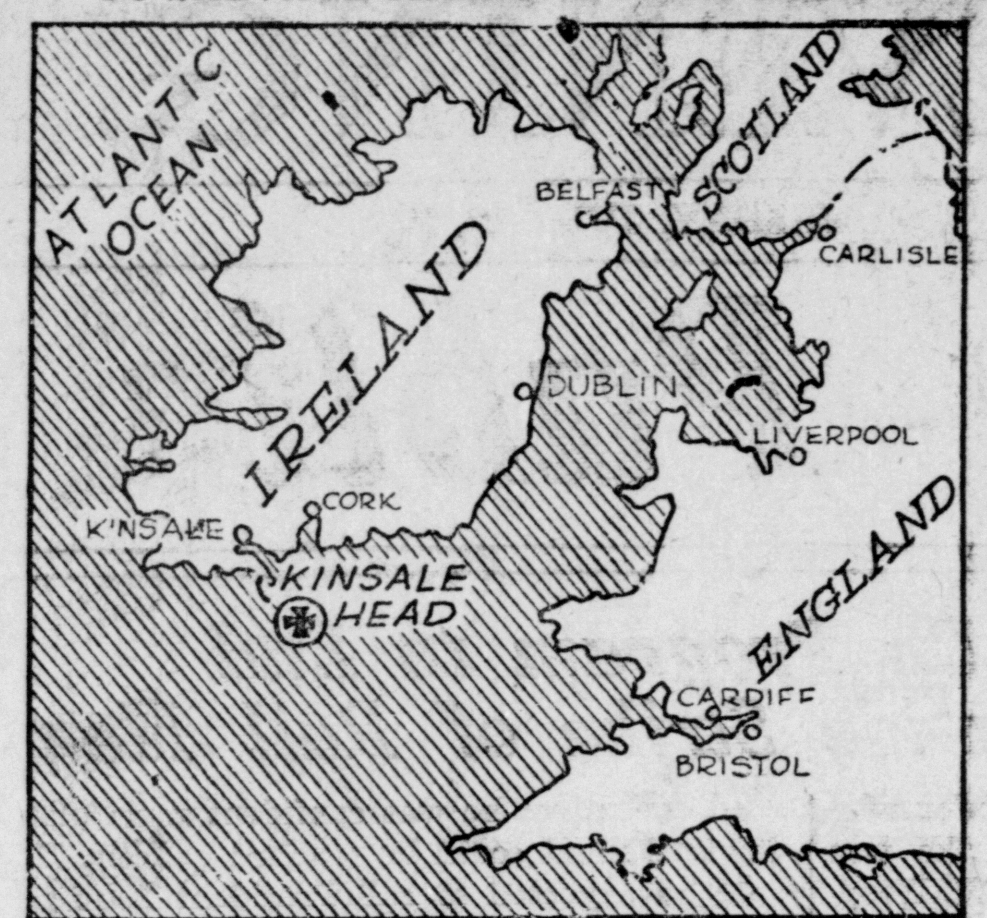

TIME TO REGISTER.

The registration books are now open in Pontotoc county and all who do not already hold registration certificates issued in Pontotoc county, those who have changed their residence since the last election and those who have become of age since then must register now if they expect to cast a vote in the coming primary. Voting is a duty every citizen owes the public. The undesirables are always in evidence and it is only by sticking together that the law abiding element can control the situation. It is now up to every voter to register and cast his or her vote for the candidates who are best fitted for the positions they are seeking.

A sharper in Canada is getting rich off thirsty Americans. His scheme is to write to the thirsty asking them if they want a dozen quarts of rye for $18. The sucker sends his money and in return gets twelve quarts of rye just as it came from the thresher. This figures out $48 per bushel. It is said that the guy has been shipping about a car-load a day. Perhaps enterprising farmers of Pontotoc county might sell some corn at this figure.

It is a well known principle in physics that heat expands and cold contracts. Wonder if that is why we have long days in summer and short ones in winter.

TREASURE SEEKERS LEAVE NEW YORK TO SALVAGE MILLIONS FROM LUSITANIA

Ethics in Business

(Chickasha Express)
Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, has always been regarded as an extremely intelligent man. But as head of the organization most powerful in American business, he has also been regarded as rather ruthless. Either Judge Gary has become converted to a milder doctrine, or his detractors were wrong all the time. Here are a few quotations from his address to the alumni association of Northwestern University on "The Ethics of Business":

"A large majority of business men now conduct their affairs in accordance with the avowed belief that right is superior to might; that morality is on a par with legality, and that the observance of both is essential to worthy achievements."

"Business men realize that the rights of customers must always be respected; that employees are associates rather than servants and should be treated accordingly; that stockholders of corporations as well as partners are entitled to any information immediately upon receipt of it by any officer or partner; that destructive competition must give way to humane competition, and that full and prompt publicity of all facts involving the public weal is demanded."

Within the last 20 years or more "there has been a radical change in the standards and conduct of business." Theodore Roosevelt had a good deal to do with this, the speaker said.

Judge Gary also threw out the passing suggestion that henceforth "the political party which pays most attention to ethics is likely to secure indorsement by the majority of voters, including especially women."

The Unknown.

(McAlester News-Capital)
When annoyed by summer heat, you scowl at the sun uncomfortably conscious of its dictatorship over life on earth.

Up there on the sun, the hydrogen flames are so giant that some of them rise to a height of 500,000 miles.

The heat of these flames is about 7,000 degrees centigrade. That is 70 times the amount of heat necessary to make water boil.

One of these flames is bad enough. You get an idea of the combined terrific heat traveling toward us when you stop to think that these giant flames are all over the sun's surface and that the sun's diameter is 866,000 miles, against the earth's diameter of about 8,000 miles.

With powerful telescope and spectroscopic, scientists are uncovering knowledge about the sun from the safe distance of 92,830,000 miles.

The human brain is getting some where when it can ferret out information at that stupendous distance.

While one branch of scientists investigates the far-off, another branch finds equally marvelous things here on earth, so small that the human eye cannot see them.

At Nela Park laboratories, Cleveland, boscina bugs—so small that 1,000 of them in a straight line measure only one inch—are placed on a lantern slide. Magnified by microscope lenses and projected on a movie screen, these boscina organisms are observed viciously attacking each other.

Other bugs, only a twenty-fifth of an inch long, are teased on the movie screen and shown cuddling their young.

Another minute form of life is shown feeding itself with a sort of paddle-wheel under its eyebrows. What science sees through its super-microscopes and telescopes today seems wonderful. And it is. But it is crude and primitive to the discoveries that will be made by future scientists.

Nature is like a candy box with millions of layers. So far, we have uncovered only the first layer. Other layers will be uncovered, each more wonderful than the one before.

Usually, when science finds something new, it is regarded merely as an interesting laboratory experiment. Later it inevitably is put to practical use.

Thus each one of these discoveries affects man's ways of living. The future of human life is unguessable, but it certainly will be bizarre, utterly unlike the lives we live today.

Mentally we are barbarians, slowly moving towards knowledge. Compared with our far-off descendants we are like oysters compared with the best human brains of today, though vanity makes this hard to believe or admit.

Parents of Delinquents.

(Lawton Constitution)
The people of the state will watch with interest the results of the recommendation of the Ponca City Humane society that parents of wayward children be held responsible for their children's delinquency, says the Oklahoman.

There is a question as to whether a parent can legally be punished for an act committed by a child unless the parent instigated the act or was an accessory in some other way although there are cases on record where such punishment has been imposed. In Nashville, Tenn., some years ago, there was a youngster who repeatedly was in the municipal court on charges of stealing fruit, milk, towels and other articles. Inasmuch as the articles were never of great value, he was usually released with a warning. Eventually, he was sent to a reform school, from which he escaped to start his stealing, again. The municipal judge summoned the mother of the boy into court, delivered her a severe lecture and fined her $25 on a charge of "maintaining a nuisance." He told the mother that he would repeat the fine every time the boy was arrested. The course followed by the judge probably was not legal, but it caused the mother to keep her eye on the boy and to keep him out of trouble.

Many delinquent children are delinquent because their parents do not seem to care what becomes of them. They are permitted to roam the streets at will, they meet and become friendly with toughs and criminals, and, in time, a number of them become criminals, themselves.

There ought to be some way to punish parents who so neglect their children that the latter feel encouraged to take up a life of crime. The duty of parents toward their children is not merely a personal one.

S. S. S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

Men and women, whether you will ever build yourself up to your normal, just-right weight depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact. If your blood-cell factory isn't working right, you will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps your face will be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S. S. S. keeps your blood-cell factory working full time. It helps build new blood-cells. That's why S. S. S. builds up thin, run-down people. It puts firm flesh on your bones, it rounds out your face, firms neck, limbs, the whole body. It puts the "pink" in your cheeks. It takes the hollowiness from the eyes, and it fools Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles in men and women by "plumping" them up. S. S. S. is a remarkable blood-purifier. While you are getting plump, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, acne, rheumatism, rash, itches, blotches are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S. S. S. are guaranteed purely vegetable. S. S. S. is sold at all drug-stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

White Crepe de Chine With Trimming of Red

By MARY BROOKS PICKEN

SOME say that women take up sports for the smart clothes that out-door activities permit them to wear, but practically all American women wear sports clothes in some form. Surely, no young girl need feel that she must be a tennis champion to wear with assurance and comfort the design illustrated.

A plaited skirt is always a delight. The round-and-round tucks of the middle have two advantages—giving balance to the blouse and keeping it in place on the figure. They also provide an attractive waist-line finish for the skirt.

The armhole line and the hold are interesting features and when well executed add much to the smartness of the blouse.

Two one-half to three widths of 40-inch crepe de Chine should be used in the skirt to give good fulness, and the hem should be at least two and one-quarter inches deep. It may be hand or machine-stitched to harmonize with the stitching on the blouse.

The hat is of the sports type, made of white crepe de Chine adorned with a jaunty red feather.

Baptists in Picnic.

At 5:30 last evening about forty members and friends of the Senior B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church gathered at the church and drove to the city-lake for a picnic. A large number of them took bathing suits and enjoyed a swim before refreshments were spread. After the sandwiches, cake and fruit, a packer of ice cream was produced. Following the refreshments the party returned to the city.

Barbecue a Success.

Sixty members of the Episcopal church went to Horseshoe Ranch Tuesday for a day's outing. The day was spent in swimming and having a general good time. Bill Coffman, Henry Stucky, and Allen Stanfield had charge of the barbecuing. M. F. Manville states that it was the best barbecue he ever ate. P. A. Norris had provided benches for those who did not care to swim. In addition to the barbecue there were the usual cakes and plenty of ice cream and soda pop. The party left for home at six o'clock.

State Forces Requested.

AUSTIN, Tex., July 12.—A telegraphic request from J. L. Lancaster, receiver for the Texas and Pacific railway at Dallas, that state forces be employed to protect workmen from the railroad during the shopmen's strike was received at the office of Governor Pat M. Neff this morning and forwarded to the governor at Stephenville, where he is to deliver an address tonight. Adjutant General Barton said he had heard nothing as to Mr. Lancaster's request and that any action must come from the governor.

Mr. Barton said, however, that the strike situation in Texas at present does not necessitate the calling out of state troops to protect railroad property. Governor Neff is not expected to return to Austin before Saturday.

Don't they look just like a couple of kids? Mrs. Charley who comes just to the shoulder of her six-foot husband and the popular Charley himself were photographed recently when Los Angeles actually had a chilly day. Ray who is going to make the picture of the well-known play, "Tailor Made Man," decided to make Mrs. Ray a "tailor made woman" and so he put one of his great coats on her to keep out the frosty air.

"The Tailor Made Man" was first bought for Jack Pickford. He recently gave up the idea of appearing in it and so Charley Ray purchased it from the Pickfords for a tidy little sum. Work has already started on the production and Ray who has been in the habit of directing his own pictures has turned the megaphone over to another for this production.

Wallace Reid to Go in Race Believe it or not, Wally Reid insists that he is going to be in the international sweepstakes race at Indianapolis on May 30. Mr. Reid says he has been trying to keep his plans secret because of possible opposition at home and in the studios, but it leaked out, so now he admits that he has a Duesenberg car waiting for him at Indianapolis and that he will practice here meantime, leaving May 1 for the scene of the race. He says Eddie Heffernon will be his mechanic. "I do not say I will win," says Wally, "but I will be out to win and I will make somebody hystle."

Happy Hobo Has a 'Literature' All His Own to Voice Feeling

CHICAGO, July 12.—The hobo has a literature of his own. He has his ballads as well as the cowboy, the mountaineer and the sailor. Much of his literature is oral, but one hobo organization has published a paper bound anthology of verse and another issues a magazine.

"Much hobo verse lacks poetic quality because the author is trying to present a belief, to voice a grievance," said Nels Anderson, who is making a study of migratory men under the auspices of Chicago philanthropic agencies. "In some, on the other hand, there is genuine feeling. The work of the late Bill Quirk is particularly meritorious."

The paper-bound anthology bears on the cover some discriminating definitions: "A hobo is a migratory worker. A tramp is a migratory non-worker. A bum is a stationary non-worker."

He Has His Place "The migratory worker," said Mr. Anderson, is essential to industry. "Sheep-shearing and salmon fishing, being seasonal tasks, can only be performed by wanderers. Occupational diseases send men from one kind of work to another. Other men wander because they lack the backbone to stay at one job, because they are queer and fail to fit into their original environment, or because they have lost out in the struggle of life."

One of Bill Quirk's efforts contains these lines:

Have you rotted wet in a grading camp
Or scorched in a desert line?
Or done your night stunt with your lamp,
Watching the timbers drip with damp
And hearing the oil rig whine?

I do no kicking at God or fate
I keep my shoes for the road—
The long gray road, and I love it.
Hay-foot, straw-foot—that's my gait,
And I carry no other man's load.

Grim humor characterizes "A Story of the Jungles". It relates the boasting of a genial liar who was supposed to be cooking "Mulligan stew" for his comrades at a hobo camp:

Now Checkers, he was a good fellow,
As far as good fellowship goes.
But he will never again be a hero,
Or kill any more of his foes.

He is sleeping at peace in the valley,
O'er his head grow the laurel and fern;
He shall ride no more rattlers or

The annual tour of the American Legion to European battlefields will be more or less informal this year, except on occasions of palace receptions by the King and Queen of Belgium, and of England, the President of France, and receptions by Foch, Poincaré, Haig, Beatty and Lloyd George. The ship sails from New York August 5. Returning the party will reach Montreal September 16, Paris, Brussels, Ostend, London and other points will be visited.

Any member of the Legion or of the Women's Auxiliary is eligible for the tour. The price has been reduced to the very minimum of $525 which covers every necessary expense, including railway and auto transportation while over there. Optional side trips may be taken at own expense. Oklahoma is allowed ten representatives until July 14, first come, first served. State headquarters of the Legion has a few reservation applications and prospectus of the trip for those who request first.

MANGUM TURNS FUND TO IMPROVE PLAYGROUND

Paul Garrett post No. 121 of Mangum, after collecting for two years a fund for a club house, at the instance of Dr. F. W. McGregor, commander, decided to use the funds for the improvement of Powers Park, to be used as a children's playground, according to J. O. Tuton, publicity officer of the post. The Legion obtained an eight year lease on the park and has adopted every child in Greer county and will provide a playground supervisor and modern equipment to make this one of the best in the entire state.

CLUB WOMEN TO ASSIST IN GETTING HOSPITALIZATION

Two million American club women pledged themselves to assist the American Legion in obtaining adequate hospital treatment for disabled veterans of the world war and to help rehabilitated veterans to find employment through their representatives at the meeting of the board of directors of the General Federation of Women's Clubs at Chautauqua, N. M.

The flag that waved over the national capitol at Washington while the body of America's unknown soldier lay in state in the rotunda, has been presented by a member of the capitol guard to the Covington, Ind., post of the American Legion.

Wallace C. Blakey, commander of Meyer-Schell post No. 92 at Alva, has made arrangements with local theaters to show, under auspices of the Legion, several nationally known war films.

With only one dissenting vote, the senate of the Louisiana legislature has passed a bill appropriating $25,000 to entertain distinguished guests at the national convention of the American Legion in New Orleans next October. The bill already had passed the house.

C. C. Cooke, commander of the Washita County Post No. 134, at Cordell, has organized a bugle corps among members of the legion there.

By a unanimous vote the House of Representatives has passed a bill proposed by the American Legion to increase the allowance for attendants to blind and totally disabled world war veterans from $20 to $50 a month.

If torpedoes or other contraband were being carried on the Lusitania when the vessel was sunk by a German submarine, the fact will be known to the world, a Philadelphia concern which is organizing an expedition to salvage the $5,000,000 in gold known to have been on board has told the American Legion.

The American Legion of Oklahoma is co-operating with the Veterans' Bureau in a drive to secure reinstatement by World War veterans of government insurance which has been allowed to lapse. Many lenient features surrounded reinstatement, and the legion all over the nation has continually urged service men to keep their insurance in force.

A memorial highway extending from the Atlantic coast to the western boundary line of Virginia, passing through that state's principal cities, has been suggested by the Virginia American Legion as a memorial to the state's world war heroes. The suggestion, which takes the form of a set of resolutions, will be acted on at the next session of the state assembly.

HERE'S JESS TODAY; LOOK HIM OVER; DO YOU THINK HE CAN GET IN SHAPE?

These two pictures of Willard, taken a few days ago in Los Angeles, show his present condition.

Jess Willard, who went down in a bloody heap before Jack Dempsey's wallop at Toledo three years ago, has started honest-to-goodness training in Los Angeles. And he insists it is with the avowed intention of licking Dempsey and recovering the title. Willard's condition is a matter of conjecture. His advanced age figures in discussions as to whether he can regain any kind of form.

STRIKE FAILS TO CHECK OUTPUT IN COAL OF KANSAS

(By the Associated Press) PITTSBURG, Kan.—Co-operative coal mining in the Kansas coal field is responsible for a large part of the more than 6,000 tons daily being produced in the field.

In spite of the strike, the Kansas field has been producing coal in considerable quantities from the first. Most of it has been shipped on railroads. Some of it has been trucked out to Joplin and other points where there has been a market for fuel.

There are two classes of co-operative miners. The first comprises men who operate small or "dinky" mines and are in fact the real operators of the mines. The second comprises the men who are working at large mines under company supervision.

The first class is not new in the ansas field. The plan is simple. A small group of miners—sometimes half a dozen and sometimes fifteen or twenty—organizes and leases a small mine. The owner of the property is to receive a royalty of 25 to 50 cents a ton for the coal. The men operate the mine themselves and divide the profits.

In the other class of cooperative mining, the operations are on a larger scale. Officials of the miners' union assert the plan is simply a ruse to permit miners to work and still not break with the union. "Soviet" is the term applied by one of the district officials.

Under this plan of cooperation, the men organize to work a mine. The work is to be done under the supervision of a company foreman. The men pay half of the salary of the foreman, the company pays the other half. The company pays the men for the coal which is loaded and the men divide the proceeds.

This plan is in use at the Sheridan mines Nos. 14, 12, 18 and 19, all large shafts. The agreement between the company and the men is said to be rather loose, permitting discontinuance on short notice.

Organizers for the union say that all the men who are working at the Sheridan mines have become operators and they have put themselves out of the union.

campaign for the improvement in the grade of wheat, raised in Oklahoma are being formulated by the Southwestern Wheat Improvement association, according to H. M. Bainer, president. STUDENTS FLOOD GERMAN COLLEGE

May Exclude Foreigners to Make Room For All Native People.

(By the Associated Press) BERLIN.—Accommodations at most of Germany's universities and technical high schools have been so severely cramped since the war by increasing enrollments that steps are being suggested for stemming the rising percentage of foreigners. Students from abroad are estimated to constitute 25 percent of the registration.

A leader in the movement to restrict the foreign influx states that in his lecture room he has noted from 50 to 100 non-Germans, made up principally of Bulgarians, Rumanians, Russians, Hungarians, Jugoslaves and South Africans. He declares the preparation of these "outsiders" frequently is insufficient and that their conduct often "leaves much to be desired." While emphasizing the need of some curtailment in the enrollment and favoring action against foreigners to this end, he observes that caution should be exercised to avoid political or diplomatic embarrassment through too stringent procedure.

Enrollment in German universities as a whole has shown an increase of 30 percent since the war and that of the technical high-schools has been more than doubled. Just before the war there were 60,000 university students in Germany. At the armistice the aggregate jumped to 90,000. There has since been a slight falling off, the summer of 1921 registering 87,147 and the present semester 82,668.

More Technical Students Technical high schools of the country were handling 12,000 before the war. In the autumn of 1920 their students numbered 22,976 and last winter 25,556.

While the knowledge that the war resulted in a greater greed for learning in the younger generation, rather than causing demoralization and frivolous living, has proved gratifying to the Germans, there is a disturbing factor in that "kultur" studies have suffered declining fascination. Compared with the figures of 1914, the present statistics for universities show decreases in the enrollments for Evangelical and Catholic theology and for philosophy and philology. Medicine, the most popular in 1914, also has proved less attractive, although dentistry students have more than doubled and there has been a slight increase in chemistry. The would-be physicians now number 15,110, whereas in 1914 there were 16,048.

Political economy heads the list in the numbers of university students enrolled and in percentage of gain over 1914. This branch has 17,714 at work, as compared with 3,836 in the last pre-war year. The study of law comes next with a registration of 16,834, as compared with 9,840. Mathematics and physical science have attracted 9,257, an increase of 1,125.

Engineering Popular In the technical schools the greatest number have flocked to mechanical engineering, which 8,306 now are studying as compared with 3,118 in 1914. Electrical science has 5,129 enrolled, against 1,307 before the war. There are 3,736 in mathematics and physical science in these schools and 3,311 in constructing engineering, as compared with 1,544 and 2,767, respectively. Mining and smelting have registered a gain from 576 to 1,234. Architecture, alone, in the technical schools, has shown a decline, the enrollment dropping from 2,193 to 1,811.

Of 23 universities mentioned in current statistics only four have shown a smaller enrollment than in 1914. This complete list includes Frankfurt, founded in 1914 and now having 4,367 in 1919, which have enrollments of 4,107 and 3,660, respectively. The largest registration is in the University of Berlin, with 12,724, as compared with 8,538 in 1914. Munich has increased from 6,826 to 8,984 and Leipzig from 5,360 to 5,660. Of the four having more than 4,000 students before the war, only Bonn suffered a decrease

WEAK; RUN-DOWN

Carolina Lady Got So She Could Just Drag—"Cardui Built Me Up," She Declares.

Kernersville, N. C.—In an interesting statement regarding Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, Mrs. Wesley Mabe, of near here, recently said: "I have known Cardui for years, but never knew its worth until a year or so ago. I was in a weakened, run-down condition. I became draggy—didn't eat or sleep to do any good; couldn't do anything without a great effort. I tried different remedies and medicines, yet I continued to drag.

"I decided to give Cardui a trial, and found it was just what I really needed. It made me feel much stronger, soon after I began to use it. I began to eat more, and the nervous, weak feeling began to leave. Soon I was sleeping good.

"Cardui built me up as no other tonic ever did. "I used Cardui with one daughter who was puny, felt bad and tired out all the time. It brought her right out, and soon she was as well as a girl could be. We think there is nothing like Cardui."

Do not allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. You may find it just what you really need. For more than 40 years it has been used by thousands and thousands, and found just as Mrs. Mabe describes. At your druggist's. NC-142

OIL STATISTICS SHOW EARNINGS FOR EMPLOYEES

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON.—Statistics covering the wages, hours and earnings in 1920 in the petroleum industry are covered in a bulletin (No. 257) of the Department of Labor, which has just been published and which is of interest to oil producers. The report is based on a study of representative plants in the principle petroleum centers.

At the wells, the figures show, 26 percent of the employees worked six days per week and 74 percent seven days. On the pipe lines 66 percent worked six days and 34 percent seven days, while at the refineries 77 percent worked six and 23 percent seven days. The customary hours of work at the wells and on the pipe lines ranged from 8 to 12 per day and at the refineries from 8 to 13.

The report also contains interesting descriptive matter regarding drilling and operation of wells, the laying and operating of pipe lines and the processes employed in the manufacture of refined petroleum.

The table below shows the average full-time hours per week and average earnings per hour in the leading occupations.

Deaver Asserts All Eligibles Must Pay Tax or Work Street

Commissioner Charles Deaver says that the street tax law will not be a dead letter this year, as it practically has been in former years. Notices to work on the streets are now being served on those who are within the age limits prescribed by law and it is either a matter of working out the required time or paying $3 in cash.

This matter has seldom been pressed with any degree of vigor and the receipts from this source have generally been very small, but Commissioner Deaver declares that there will be no escape this time and that he will enforce this just like any other duty imposed on him by law. He collected this tax will add materially to the funds for maintaining and improving the streets.

Railway Heads Make No Reply To Hooper On Strike Question

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, July 12.—No definite reply to the shopmen's strike settlement proposals has been given Chairman Hooper of the railroad labor board today by representatives of the railway executives at a noonday conference today. The executives said they would notify Mr. Hooper of their answer "later."

Chairman Hooper said his chief purpose in meeting with the executives was to arrange a conference between them and B. M. Jewell, leader of the striking shopmen, and indicated that the attitude of the executives was disappointing.

DOINGS OF THE VAN LOONS—But look at the Nerve Bobby had.

By F. LEIPZIGER

According to Pittman

By JAMES FAGAN

Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union.

Professor Atkinson of the Cummings Business college was fifty, and, as he had always been a bachelor, the probabilities were that he always would be one. He was tall, lean, earnest, and a crackjack on bookkeeping.

However, he was also strong on shorthand, for which reason Miss Cummings had asked him to take Howells' place while that professor was on his vacation. Howells was forty-five, dark, energetic, and reported to be engaged to Miss Cummings.

Elizabeth Cummings was forty. Why she had never married was a constant theme of speculation among her pupils—the feminine section; for Miss Cummings was decidedly peachish. It was generally agreed, however, that she had met her fate in Howells, whom they all detested.

Professor Atkinson was called "an old dear," which summed him up very nicely. No one knew how romantic a heart beat under his old-fashioned waistcoat.

The professor had been six months at the college, and he was dreadfully afraid of Miss Cummings.

The Avenue school was only one of three which Miss Cummings superintended in the town. Every Monday and every Thursday morning she appeared and went through the building, inspecting the bookkeeping, the French, Spanish and German departments, and the shorthand and typewriting section, from which so many roses blossomed periodically into the stern, nipping air of business life.

It was on the second Thursday morning after Professor Atkinson had taken over Howells' job that Miss Cummings appeared. She stood for five full minutes listening to the professor's exposition, while Professor Atkinson grew redder and redder, and stammered more and more.

"That won't do, Professor!" Miss Cummings spoke with her usual sharpness. "This pupil made a wrong grammatical error on the blackboard, and you allowed it to pass."

"It's—it's—" began the professor. "It's not according to Pittman," returned Miss Cummings sharply.

"It's my way to allow the pupils to make their grammatical errors, Miss Cummings," said Professor Atkinson.

"In future, professor, you will kindly follow Mr. Pittman," retorted Miss Cummings.

"The test is whether they can read them!" said the professor.

Miss Cummings, whose locks were auburn, was a little hasty.

"I have given you my instructions," she said finally. "If you are not satisfied, Professor Atkinson, nobody is detaining you against your will."

The class tittered as Miss Cummings went out, but the professor sat like a broken man until the recess. Then he paced the class room in desperation. He reviewed his position. He was fifty, he would have difficulty in securing another position, and he had no capital with which to open a school of his own.

On the other hand, his authority over his pupils was gone. It was impossible to retain both his self-respect and his position.

Worst of all, he knew now that he had always cherished a very warm feeling for Miss Cummings. That was the crowning blow—the way she had turned against him. He sat down and indited her a note:

"Dear Miss Cummings:

"This letter is to say good-bye," he wrote. "I cannot help but leave you, and I'd leave tomorrow, but Howells can take my place on Saturday."

Then a diabolical idea occurred to him. He would write it in shorthand. Miss Cummings would understand the hint. And the professor was only human.

He did so and had posted the letter before his heart began to beat rapidly at the thought of what he had done. Suppose Miss Cummings came round in one of her flaming rages?

However, it was done, and that afternoon he faced his tittering pupils like a man—a broken man, but still a man.

That evening he remained long at his desk, poring over the accumulated exercises. The professor was conscientious; he could not leave this mass of work to Howells.

He was about to depart at last when a soft tap came at the door.

"Come in!" called the professor.

And it was Miss Cummings who entered. But there was no fire in Miss Cummings' eye. She looked at him as if possessed, approached, and suddenly flung her arms about his neck.

"Darling," she whispered, "it was only because I loved you and you seemed so cold that I was horrid to you this morning. Was my sweet boy jealous of silly Mr. Howells, then?"

Professor Atkinson, lost in amazement, felt Miss Cummings' kisses on his cheek.

"It was so brave of you to write me that darling letter," Miss Cummings continued. "It burned itself in to my brain, and then I knew that I had found my real affinity. And so short and plain and simple, like all things that are real."

"This letter is to say good-bye. I cannot help but love you, and I'd love to marry, but Howells can take my place on Saturday."

"That's a classic love letter," said Miss Cummings. "But, darling, you didn't put in any vowels at all."

Professor Atkinson, who was a man, rose to the occasion.

"What's a few vowels between ourselves?" he answered, as he kissed her peach-like lips.

Farmers' Column

By Byron Norrell

The canning and pickling season is here and I have decided to publish a number of recipes found in a pamphlet by Miss Martha McPheters of the extension department of the A. & M. college and issued by the college as Circular No. 98. The first of these installments is on the subject of brining cucumbers.

Preparation—It is not necessary to wash the cucumbers before putting them into brine, since the bacteria on the outside of the vegetable aid in the process and the brine pickles are washed, anyway, before being eaten. This does not apply in the case of dill pickles. These are eaten as they come from the crocks. Some bacteriologists recommend that a little whey from sour milk be put into the pickle barrel to hasten the fermentation.

Brine—Soft water should be used in making the brine. Water containing much iron or lime will discolor the pickles. Put the cucumbers into brine very soon after they are gathered. A good measure of salt is absolutely necessary to prevent spoilage but salt alone is not enough. Salt draws out water from the vegetable tissues and toughens them somewhat. For this reason a weaker brine will give a better texture to the finished product. About 1 pound of salt dissolved in 1 gallon of water makes a brine that is not too heavy. The cucumbers should be weighted down so this solution will completely cover them. A cheesecloth may be placed over the top to exclude the dust and at the same time admit air.

The appearance of bubbles indicates that fermentation is taking place. When the frothing ceases the acid present in the brine is strong enough to kill most bacteria in the liquid, and from this time on the pickle, brine should be covered. It is necessary to exclude the air, because air may carry in with it yeast, which might cause the forming of scum. This scum might cause the pickle to soften and spoil.

Excluding the Air—As soon as fermentation ceases and bubbles no longer appear, take care to weight the cucumbers down under the brine. Cover with a piece of cheesecloth and then pour on a thick layer of melted paraffin. Place lids on the crocks or jars and wrap a strip of cheesecloth dipped in hot melted paraffin around where the lid and top of container meet, letting paraffin harden and seal the opening. The containers should not be disturbed after they have been sealed.

Brining in Barrels—Secure light kegs or barrels. Cleanse thoroughly. It might be well to begin with a brine of 1 pound of salt to 1 gallon of water, but they should finally be packed in a heavier brine—about 1 1/2 pounds of salt to 1 gallon water. As soon as brine tests acid, the barrel can be bunged up tightly to keep out air. Since brine is likely to settle and become strong at the bottom and weak at the top it is best to turn kegs or barrels over every week for first few weeks.

When these pickles are opened they should be firm, a good olive green color and in fine condition. The great secret of pickle making lies in bringing about acid fermentation quickly, and after this is done preserve the acidity of the brine by covering tightly.

Test for Acid—To determine when the brine reaches the acid stage, put a piece of blue litmus paper into it. If it turns red, all air should be excluded. Get litmus paper at drug store.

Grading—Cucumbers should be graded according to size.

Size 1—1 to 2 inches, small pickles.

Size 2—2 to 3 inches, small pickles.

Size 3—3 to 4 inches, medium pickles.

Size 4—4 inches and over, large pickles.

A Neglected Hero

Rev. R. E. Brothers, pastor of the Asbury Methodist church in this city, is the author of a little poem which has just appeared in the Oklahoma Methodist, a church publication issued from Tulsa. The poem was occasioned by the launching of a drive for funds for superannuated ministers in the Methodist church. The poem follows:

A tired and worn-out preacher
A soldier of the Cross
Who fought beneath the Christian flag,
Counting not the cost.

Now bent with age and worn by service,
Stands waiting at the door,
And asks the Church to help him.
He is homeless, old and poor.
Each furrow across his noble brow
Will eloquently tell
How, answering his Church's call,
He fought where sinners fell.

No grumbler in the ranks was he,
But like the ones of old.
The Church's call to poor paid fields
Was music to his soul.

When groans of dead and dying
Were heard on every hand,
From clouds of unbelief that had settled
All on our Christian land,
Rolled back the battle smoke.

This veteran stood to duty
Like the needle to the pole,
And went where the bishop said
Through hardships never told.

But with pleading eyes he stands,
With health that is all bereft,
And asks his Church to help him
Over the few short years that are left.

But the men who fill our pews
Hold in their hands his fate,
These failed to offer adequate help.
And, so, he'll have to wait.

'Till some kindly hand will lead him
From the storm
That breaks above his hoary head
And rests his tired form.

"The Church is poor," they tell us;
Oh, she must be poor indeed
To see such heroes suffer,
And not supply their need.

Old Preacher, you must stand
aside,
We heard your cry too late,
With a pittance for a pension,
We leave you to your fate.

Yet history in coming years
These truthful words will tell,
"God never honored braver men
Than those that served so well."

On prohibition's hard fought field,
Against white slavery as well,
In fact, against every evil,
Those heroes fought and fell.

Full many live in uncomfortable homes
We will never know their fate,
The God they loved will not forget
The Methodist Superannuate.

1000 Children Are Arrested Annually On Federal Counts

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 12.—Approximately 1,000 children under 18 years of age are arrested in the United States each year for violations of federal laws, Secretary of Labor Davis announced today in making public a report dealing with the procedure of federal courts and delinquent children, prepared by the Children's Bureau.

The report presents the results of a study of methods of dealing with children who have violated postal and other federal laws. The postoffice department and the Department of Justice assisted the labor department in its investigations by making available their records. The study showed 1,145 children arrested during a two year period for violating postal laws and 211 arrested for other federal offenses.

A measure authorizing federal probation, the report said, was passed by congress in 1817 but was not signed by the president. A similar bill is pending in the present congress, and the proposed legislation, the report suggested, would enable the United States courts to deal much more effectively with children's cases. It was probable, the report pointed out, that the simplest, most practicable, and least expensive plan for the proper handling of children's cases involving violation of federal laws would be the development of a definite system of reference to state juvenile courts at least in certain types of cases.
